ses. In the spring of 1837, when the pressure began and the creditors saught the recovery of their debts in our courts of matice, the process of defeating the Courts by the resignations of Sheriff's and Clerks commenced, followed up by the quashing of executions by the Judges for defects, which, in our opinion, had no force or validity, and which existed only in the minds of the projectors and admirators. Executions were quashed for defects that had often been argued before, without success before some of the same judges; but whose legal discrimation may perhaps have been brightened by the pressure of the times, which soably awakened their senses to be the better Judge." Thus was the ball disorganization set in motion, and we now may well cry stop it who can. errectly, or an execution because a t is not crossed, or i dotted, or some other defect equally trivial, and not more iming to quash a Court upon motion before the Judge, because it was said that the Sherif had not taken the oath of office, because the Judge of Probate who administered the oath had not taken his out of office before a person competent toadminister an eath. Upon this ground it was urged to quash the Court, when a moments reflection should have convinced any one that the judge had no jurisdiction of the case, and had no power to look beyond the commission of the officer to know whether he was Sheriff or not. And in addition to this follows the non holding of Courts, because houses are not prepared and ready-throwing the whole order of Judicial organization in confusion, and dostroving the whole remaining portion of credit we might still possess. Such a course of policy troubles, sinks us deeper. Debts are lost to home creditors that might have been payment of their debts are given greater chances to go to Texas with their moveable property; or only struggle to procrastinate the payment of their debts by the "laws delay," without striving to liquidate them as they should.
